- What does independent living mean?
- “Check pockets before washing clothes.” Which skill is it?
- Can an independent person ask for help? Why?

Sorting Utensils

Utensils are sorted into three categories. Eating utensils: fork, spoon, table knife. Serving utensils: serving spoon, ladle. Cooking utensils: spatula, tongs.

Follow six steps: 1) read the labels, 2) pick up one utensil, 3) name it and its job, 4) place it with the handles going the same way, 5) check for wrong slots, 6) ask for help if you are not sure.

Stay safe: hold a knife by the handle and point the blade down. In class we use blunt or plastic knives only.

Sorting is a real job skill. Restaurants, cafeterias and stores all need workers who organize things into the right categories.
