- Say your goal in one sentence.
- Your trigger happens at lunch. What do you do first?
- What if it doesn't help?

Plan A or Plan B?

Plan A is your goal tool. Plan B is your backup tool, or asking an adult.

Switch to Plan B in two cases: when you can't do Plan A in that place, or when you tried Plan A and it did not help.

Example: During a math test you feel frustrated. Box breathing at your desk works, because it is quiet and nobody notices, so Plan A works. Example: Your Plan A is cold water, but you are on the bus. You can't get to a sink, so you switch to Plan B, like squeeze and release.

Asking a trusted adult always counts as Plan B.
