- When do you switch from Plan A to Plan B?
- You're at a register with a long line and can't leave. What do you do?
- Say your Plan A and Plan B.

Which Tool Fits?

A tool has to fit the place. In a quiet test, box breathing fits because it is silent. In a loud hallway, a step-away tool or squeeze and release may fit better.

Tools come in three groups. Quiet tools: box breathing, squeeze and release. Thinking tools: cool thoughts and self-talk. Step-away tools: cold water, 5-4-3-2-1 and a reset pass.

To wrap up the unit, look back: Which tool worked best for you? Where did it work? What will you keep doing? A 3-2-1 reflection helps: 3 tools you know, 2 places you used one, 1 tool you will keep using.

Self-management means managing your feelings and actions so you can do what you need to do.
