🧍 Body Clues: Reading · ANSWER KEY

SEL · Unit 4 · Level 3 (closer to the class work) · goes with SEL Level 2 slides: Reading Others: Body Clues

Name: _____

⏱️ 5-minute review

- Which three face parts give clues?
- Eyes wide, eyebrows up, mouth open. What might they feel?
- Why do you think so?

Bodies Talk Too

Body language is what a body shows without words. Look at the shoulders and head, the arms, the hands and the feet. Then look at the face too.

Shoulders up high can mean tense or nervous; slumped shoulders and a head down can mean sad or tired. Crossed arms can mean mad, or just cold. Fists can mean angry; tapping hands can mean nervous or bored. Bouncing feet can mean excited or nervous; stomping can mean mad.

Careful: one clue isn't enough. Crossed arms might mean someone is cold, not mad. Check the face and what just happened before you decide.

When you are not sure, you can kindly ask: “Are you okay?”

Check your reading

1. Name the four body clues.
Shoulders/head, arms, hands, feet.

2. Why is one clue not enough?
It can mean different things; e.g., crossed arms = mad or cold.