👩‍🏫 Staff Guide · Health · Unit 1 Wellness (Level 3)

Level 3 = students who can work close to the gen ed lesson. No slide decks: students follow Mr. Finstuen's lesson with Level 3 readings and guided notes (both have a 🔊 read-aloud copy online).

1. How the pieces line up

Gen ed lesson	Level 3 piece
Nametag & Notes, Dimensions of Wellness, Analyze Personal Dimensions of Wellness	Reading paragraphs 1-2; notes part A (table + senses question)
Sleep is Your Superpower; Emotional First Aid	Reading paragraph 3; notes part B
Decision-Making Part 2 (DECIDE + scenarios); SMART Goal; Financial Wellness	Reading paragraphs 4-5; notes part C (DECIDE table, ride-home scenario from his Part 2, SMART goal)
Self-Awareness Reflection, Ultimate vs. Casual Concerns	Do his version if the student is comfortable; personal answers stay private and are optional

2. Supports built in

- Reading + notes have a 🔊 read-aloud copy online
- Key-word box at the top of the notes
- Short answers can be typed, said or scribed

3. What to grade

- Notes stand in for the Wellness vocabulary and Analyze Personal Dimensions of Wellness (same points when complete)
- Quick check: score, then scale to class points
- Modified grading only as the IEP allows. Check with the case manager.

4. Who to ask

- Mr. Driver (SLE): changes and IEP questions.
- Facts we could not confirm say “check with Mr. Finstuen”.

🚧 Under construction (check with Mr. Finstuen)

- Sleep is Your Superpower worksheet: Turned in through an outside tool, so the questions are not in the export. Our notes use the topics on his calendar.
- Learner Profile + wellness group assessment: Both are outside-tool documents not in the export.
- Wellness self-assessment: His SMART Goal uses the Princeton UMatter wellness self-assessment (link only). Our version skips the score.

The Dimensions of Wellness

Wellness is more than not being sick. It is the active process of taking care of every part of your health. Mr. Finstuen's class uses eight dimensions: physical, emotional, social, intellectual, occupational, environmental, spiritual and financial. The dimensions are connected, so a change in one affects the others.

All information gets into the brain through our senses: sight, hearing, smell, touch and taste. When you trail run, for example, you might smell leaves, hear birds and feel rocks under your feet. Noticing your senses helps you understand how an activity affects you.

Sleep is one of the most powerful tools for physical and emotional wellness. During sleep the brain stores memories, and the body repairs itself and fights illness. Teens need about 8 to 10 hours each night, but many people get 6 hours or less. Too little sleep is linked to poor mood, anxiety and disease.

We make many decisions every day. Everyday decisions have small effects. Impulsive decisions are made without thinking and can lead to harm, especially under stress. Responsible decisions use a model such as DECIDE: Define the decision, Explore your options, Consider the consequences, Identify your values, Decide and act, and Evaluate the results.

Goals help us grow in a dimension where we are weaker. A SMART goal is Specific, Measurable, Attainable, Relevant and Timely. Financial wellness is part of this too: a budget pays for needs before wants, and risky money choices can leave a person without enough to make it to the end of the month.

Check your reading

1. Why are the eight dimensions described as connected?

2. Name two things the body or brain does during sleep.

3. How is a responsible decision different from an impulsive one?

A. The 8 dimensions

1. Fill in the table.

Dimension	What it means	One example
Physical	body: exercise, food, sleep	walking 30 minutes
Social	relationships with others	lunch with a friend
Occupational	school work and jobs	finishing an assignment
Financial	money and budgeting	saving part of a paycheck

2. All information gets into the brain through the five senses.

3. Pick one activity you enjoy. Which dimension does it fit, and which senses does it use?
Answers vary, e.g. cooking: physical/social; sight, smell, taste, touch.

B. Sleep and emotional first aid

4. Teens need about 8 to 10 hours of sleep each night.

5. Replaying the same worry over and over is called rumination.

6. Give two ways sleep supports wellness.
Memory and learning; mood; immune system; body repair.

7. Name one way to break the habit of rumination.
Distract yourself for a few minutes: a walk, a task, a talk with someone.

C. Decisions, goals and money

8. Fill in the table.

Letter	Step of DECIDE
D	Define the decision
E	Explore your options
C	Consider the consequences
I	Identify your values
D	Decide and act
E	Evaluate the results

9. Run this through DECIDE: the person who is supposed to drive you home had two drinks in the last hour and says they are fine. What do you decide?

Do not ride with them; options: call a parent/guardian, another sober driver or a ride service; consequences of riding include crash, injury; value safety.

10. Rewrite “I want to be healthier” as a SMART goal.

e.g. I will walk 20 minutes after school 3 days a week for the next 2 weeks.

11. A plan for spending and saving is a budget .
