👩‍🏫 Staff Guide · Health · Unit 4 Social-Emotional Health (Level 3)

Level 3 = students who can work close to the gen ed lesson. No slide decks: students follow Mr. Finstuen's lesson with Level 3 readings and guided notes (both have a 🔊 read-aloud copy online).

1. How the pieces line up

Gen ed lesson	Level 3 piece
CASEL 5 Core Competencies; Self-Esteem	Reading paragraphs 1-2; notes part A (no self-rating)
RULER; Feel Good Plan; Setting Boundaries	Reading paragraphs 3-4; notes part B (made-up student Alex)
Ethical Values; What If? Scenarios; Bullying	Reading paragraphs 4-5; notes part C
Mental Health Continuum; Life Just Got Real	Reading paragraph 5; quick check. Cross the Line/Stand Up left out

2. Supports built in

- Reading + notes have a 🔊 read-aloud copy online
- Scenarios use made-up students only
- Sharing is always optional

3. What to grade

- Notes stand in for the CASEL, RULER and boundary worksheets
- Left-out personal-sharing activities: excused, full credit
- Modified grading only as the IEP allows. Check with the case manager.

4. Who to ask

- Mr. Driver (SLE): changes and IEP questions.
- Facts we could not confirm say “check with Mr. Finstuen”.

🚧 Under construction (check with Mr. Finstuen)

- What If? scenario cards: His scenario list is not in the export; we wrote two short scenarios in the Level 3 notes instead.
- Life Just Got Real slides: Only the title is in the export; we teach the idea in one slide.
- Bullying video notes: Turned in through an outside tool; the questions are not in the export.

💗 Sensitive topic note

This unit is about feelings. Students never have to share their own feelings, write a mood log or rate themselves. Use the made-up characters in the scenarios. The self-esteem scale, Cross the Line and Stand Up activities from the general class are left out on purpose. If a student shares something worrying, tell Mr. Driver and the school counselor. Crisis help: call or text 988.

Skills for Feelings and Friendships

Social-emotional skills help us understand ourselves and get along with others. The CASEL 5 are self-awareness (knowing your feelings and strengths), self-management (handling feelings, stress and goals), social awareness (understanding others' feelings and backgrounds), relationship skills (communicating, cooperating and solving conflicts) and responsible decision-making (making safe, caring choices).

Self-esteem is how much a person values and respects themselves. It has two main parts: self-worth, the belief that you matter, and self-confidence, the belief that you can do things. Self-talk, the words we say to ourselves, can raise or lower self-esteem. Changing “I'm bad at this” to “I'm still learning this” is one way to build it.

RULER is a set of five emotion skills: Recognize, Understand, Label, Express and Regulate. Naming a feeling clearly, such as “frustrated” instead of “bad,” makes it easier to handle. The Feel Good Plan puts this into action: Pause, Identify the feeling, and Generate a list of healthy things that help, like going for a walk, listening to music or talking to someone you trust.

A boundary is a limit you set to protect yourself. One way to say no and keep the friendship is: give a compliment, state the concern, offer an alternative, and leave kindly if the person keeps pushing. Ethical values (honesty, respect, fairness, caring, responsibility and citizenship) help us decide what to do in hard situations.

Bullying is unwanted, repeated behavior that involves a power imbalance. It can be physical, verbal, social or online (cyberbullying). Bystanders can become upstanders by helping, including the target or reporting to an adult. Mental health moves along a continuum from healthy, to distress, to illness. Mental illness is common and treatable. Help is available from trusted adults, the school counselor, and the 988 Suicide & Crisis Lifeline (call or text 988).

A. CASEL 5 and self-esteem

1. Fill in the table.

CASEL skill	What it means	Example
Self-awareness	knowing your feelings/strengths	noticing you're nervous
Self-management	handling feelings/goals	deep breaths before a test
Social awareness	understanding others	noticing a friend is upset
Relationship skills	communicating/cooperating	working out a conflict
Responsible decision-making	safe, caring choices	saying no to a dare

2. Rewrite this self-talk to build self-esteem: “I'm so stupid, I'll never get math.”

Example: “Math is hard for me right now, but I'm still learning and I can ask for help.”

B. RULER, Feel Good Plan and boundaries

3. The five RULER skills are Recognize, Understand, Label, Express and Regulate.

4. Alex (a made-up student) just got a bad grade and feels frustrated. Write Alex's Feel Good Plan: Pause, Identify, Generate a list.

Pause: deep breaths. Identify: frustrated. List: walk, music, talk to teacher/friend.

5. A friend keeps asking Alex to skip class. Write what Alex could say using all four boundary steps.

Compliment, concern, alternative, leave kindly — e.g., “You're fun to hang out with, but I don't want to skip. Let's hang out after school instead.” Then walk to class.

C. Values, bullying and mental health

6. What If? You see someone post a mean edited photo of a classmate, and it's the third time this week. Which ethical values apply, and what could an upstander do?

Respect, caring, responsibility; don't share, support the classmate, report to an adult, report the post.

7. Mental health moves from healthy to distress to illness, and mental illness is treatable.
